

Send Your Employees Home

And Drastically Cut Costs at the Same Time

Telecommuter Advantages are Many and Immediate

- Expand your hours of operation with home based reception phones
- Reduce office space requirements and save money
- Reduce commute time lost every day, and stress caused by commuting
- Attract better qualified workers not limited by distance
- Reduce gas consumption – a financial bonus to your employees
- Tie all communications media (phone, vmail, email) into a single package
- Increase accountability of employees with consolidated activity reports

This is all possible due to the emerging power of VoIP (Voice Over Internet Protocol)

Communications technologies have finally reached a level of functionality that allows you to rethink how you do business, who your potential job candidates might be, how large a facility you must maintain, and what hours you are able to keep.

THIS CAN BE A HUGE CHANGE IN ALL ASPECTS OF YOUR BUSINESS!

Acticor can show you businesses that are already taking advantage of teleworkers and multi-site offices tied together by a single communications system. Money savings, more qualified job candidates, and enhanced employee satisfaction are only a few of the benefits to be gained. Greater accountability through consolidated reporting can increase your productivity and efficiency.

Of course most businesses have employees that require “face time” with clients at you’re your office or facility, but there are also many positions that do not require this every day. Some employees could work from home several days per week. Think about phone answering, administration, accounting, and positions that could now be done from the suburbs, small towns, or anywhere in the world.

This is the new paradigm in finding quality employees!
